Have you ever imagined an island playing hide-and-seek? Join the Roberson family as they set sail on the high seas for an exciting mystery full of magic and adventure. Dr. Jim Roberson, his wife Judy, and their kids are ready to explore new places and chase the secret of an island that moves around. Get ready to discover what surprises the Caribbean has in store!

Dr. Jim Roberson, an explorer and educator, takes his family on an adventure across the high seas to investigate a mysterious island. His wife, Judy, is a photographer who documents ocean and land life, while their two children, Robin and Janafer, are home-educated by their parents. Together, aboard their 53-foot sloop The Trade Wind, they sail south toward the Caribbean, drawn by reports of an island that appears and disappears, accompanied by strange events like the deaths of sea creatures when it is nearby. Some sailors whisper that the island even sings secret songs at night, making everything feel magical and maybe a bit scary. But there are also tales of other strange occurrences—such as silent waters where no sound echoes or feathers drifting down from an invisible source, moments that unsettle the heart and whisper of unknown dangers. As the Robersons set sail from Woodhole, Massachusetts, nobody knows what adventures or mysteries they’ll face, or what secrets the island is hiding.
